by AbleNet

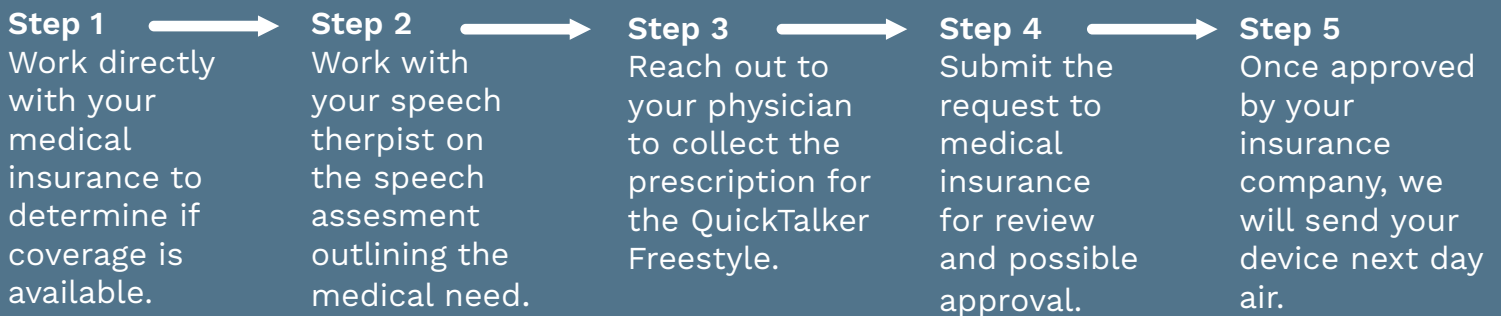

Our team of experts is here to support you, your speech therapist, and your physician throughout the process of securing your QuickTalker Freestyle speech device through your insurance company

To complete the process, we will need a few things from you:

- ALL medical insurance cards (front and back)
So our team can reach out directly to your insurance company to determine if your policy includes coverage for a speech device.
- Signed medical release
So we have permission to speak to your speech therapist and physician about your interest in securing a QuickTalker Freestyle speech device.
- Primary physician information
So we can reach out to your primary care physician to write a prescription for the device. ALL medical insurance firms will require a prescription.
Note: Speech device user must be seen by primary physician within the last 6-months. We can still do many other tasks to keep the process of securing a QuickTalker Freestyle moving forward while you arrange this.
