

Getting Started

Creating a barrier-free environment where all individuals can thrive.

Presuming competence means believing that all individuals, regardless of their abilities, have the potential to communicate effectively.

Speech devices, like the QuickTalker Freestyle, can help non-verbal and limited verbal individuals of any age participate more fully in various aspects of life, including school, social interactions, and daily activities.

With the QuickTalker Freestyle, you can customize the device based on each individual's abilities. You can choose any speech application available on the app store and swap it out later on if the user's needs change!
